Budget Priorities & Hillside Plaza update

Mayor Mike Weichers

The statements in this article are the author's views and not necessarily of the entire city council.

As we finish up our 25th Fiscal year on June 30th and get ready to pass a new 26th Fiscal year budget beginning July 1, the City Council is excited to once again not raise the mill rate for Property taxes. Although many property taxing entities (School District, County, Rec Center, etc.) have increased tax rates over the last couple years, Cottonwood Heights has been able to keep our rate the same since 2018. While every other municipality in Salt Lake County has needed to raise property taxes at least once over the last 2 budget cycles (many of whom raise rates every single year), Cottonwood Heights has been able to keep our rate as one of the lowest in the County, with some cities 2 or 3 times higher than our current rate.

The inflationary pressures of the last few years have put a lot of pressure on our budget, but the City Council has made difficult decisions to find ways to be more efficient and to keep expenses as low as possible. Our funding priorities will always include top level public safety (Police & Fire), road maintenance, snow removal, and other critical infrastructure. City Officials are working hard to make our roads safer and will continue to look for new ways to do so. Competitive pay and increases for city staff has been a priority we have realized. We are proud to have dedicated funds to prioritizing parks, trails, and open spaces and for the second year in a row, will introduce a new Park to our residents. This 2 acre park will be finished in September and is located off Dover Hill Dr. City Officials would love suggestions to help us name the park and recommendations can be sent to parks@ch.utah.gov to submit a request. The winning submission will be eligible to receive a prize from the city.

We are also excited to announce that the city has chosen a development partner for the Hillside Plaza redevelopment. We received 7 different proposals from some of the best developers in our State and are grateful for the opportunity we had to work with all of them during the bidding process. Although narrowing it down to one partner was very difficult, we are excited to be working on a development agreement with one and hope to be able to announce our new partner very soon.

Finally, we encourage all of our residents to get outside and enjoy the summer season now upon us. We hope to see many of you during our Butlerville Day celebrations (July 24 to 26) to help us celebrate 20 years as a city and to enjoy being together as a community. Also, don't forget our annual play, The Lightning Thief: The Percy Jackson Musical running from July 11th to the 18th. We look forward to seeing many of you soon. ■

Preparing for Wildfire Season in Cottonwood Heights: Essential Steps for Homeowners

Assistant Fire Chief Riley Pilgrim

Though Cottonwood Heights is an urban community, its location along the Wasatch Front places several of its residential areas along the wildland-urban interface. These are areas that are adjacent to undeveloped land such as the Forest Service, parks and other areas that have vegetation and potential wildfire risks. These risks vary in severity depending on the neighboring fuel, lay of the land and any type of management done in the area. It is important to remember that each of us as residents are responsible for our own properties in regards to wildfire mitigation. With spring approaching, there are several things that homeowners can consider to be better prepared for the upcoming summer.

The Unified Fire Authority suggests residents visit the [Ready, Set, Go!](http://Ready, Set, Go! (wildlandfirersg.org)) (wildlandfirersg.org)

website for easy-to-follow recommendations that homeowners can take to become better prepared. Some of the suggestions include:

- Be Ready. Create and maintain defensible space around your home and property. This includes removing flammable vegetation within 30 feet of your home and extending outward with other protective measures. If your home is adjacent to public land, we suggest working with the city and fire department to find a way to address your concerns.
- Get Set. Ensure your family is prepared to evacuate on short notice. This includes having important valuables, documentation, medication, and other essential or difficult-to-replace items prepared for a quick retreat.
- Be ready to go. When wildfire strikes and you have concerns for your safety, leave the area before you are told to do so. Sometimes, this decision is one you will need to make based on your own impressions. Public safety authorities will do their best to evacuate areas on an as-needed basis, but we also rely on citizens to take this action on their own without direction if they feel threatened by fire.

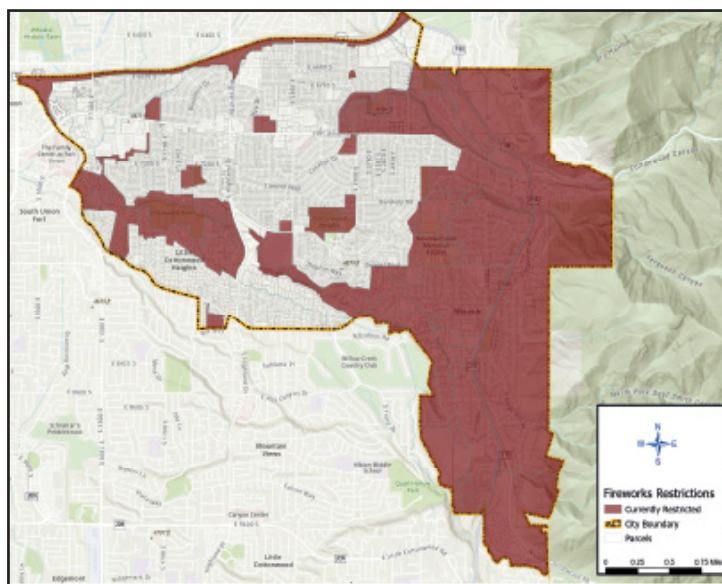

Now is a great time to begin assessing your readiness for the wildfire season. Whether evaluating your preparedness to evacuate or preparing to do a wildfire assessment of your property, it is never too early to prepare for the wildfire season. There are several resources available to you for reference and education. Please refer to the following websites for additional information on wildfire preparation:

Celebrating Public Works Appreciation Week with Canyon View Elementary

We had the pleasure of celebrating with the enthusiastic students of Canyon View Elementary School, who joined us to explore the vital role our public works team plays in the community. The event was full of excitement as the students transformed into little engineers, building bridges, riding tractors, and learning about the intricacies of storm drain operations. A highlight for many was the creative opportunity to paint snow plows!

We extend our heartfelt gratitude to council members Ellen Birrell and Suzanne Hyland for their support, as well as to the dedicated teachers and public works staff who made this event a success. Your hard work and commitment are invaluable in ensuring our city functions seamlessly every day. Thank you to everyone involved in making Public Works Appreciation Week a memorable celebration! ■

Storm-water Tip of the Month

Don't waste the summer by putting yard waste in stormwater. Organic matter such as lawn clippings and leaves or chemicals such as fertilizers and pesticides can deplete stormwater of oxygen. Sweep up yard waste back into your yard or collect and place in the trash. ■

Celebrate International Plastic Bag-Free Day on July 3

On July 3rd, Wasatch Front Waste & Recycling District will join other organizations around the world in support of International Plastic Bag-Free Day (<http://www.plasticbagfreeday.org/>).

It's easy to take part. Bring your own reusable bags when you shop. While you're at it, gather up old plastic bags at home and recycle them at a local drop-off. Lastly, keeping a reusable bag in your car or purse makes it simple to skip plastic anytime — and some stores even reward you for it! ■

Cottonwood Height Amateur Radio "Field Day" June 28-29

The Cottonwood Heights Amateur Radio Club invites you to the annual ARRL Field Day from 12 PM on June 28 to 12 PM on June 29. This event, part of an initiative since 1933, unites amateur radio operators across North America.

Hams will set up temporary stations in public spaces to demonstrate their communication skills. This highlights ham radio's ability to create reliable networks anywhere, using wireless technology.

While many will use public sites, some Utah hams will broadcast from homes or personal spaces using portable setups powered by generators, solar panels, or batteries.

This year's event is crucial due to an active hurricane season forecast. Ham operators offer vital communication when traditional systems fail, operating independently of the internet and phones.

Last year, over 31,000 hams participated across North America. There are over 750,000 licensed operators in the U.S. and about 3 million worldwide. Amateur radio advances technology, skills, and international goodwill, with participants aged 9 to over 100.

For more about ham radio, check the ARRL Ham Radio License Manual or visit www.arrl.org/what-is-ham-radio. Celebrate ham radio with us! ■

Celebrating 20 Years of Cottonwood Heights: The Evolution of Cottonwood Heights' Community Spaces

The story of Cottonwood Heights' recreation and parks is one of remarkable community growth. From its early days, where local schoolyards served as central play areas for a scattered rural population, to the post-WWII boom that brought planned subdivisions, our city has always valued spaces for connection. This commitment was formalized in 1967 with the creation of what is now the Cottonwood Heights Parks and Recreation Service Area. Its crown jewel, the Cottonwood Heights Recreation Center, first opened its doors in 1971 and has since blossomed into an expansive 160,000 sq ft facility with diverse amenities for all. Our city parks also narrate our history: Antczak and Bywater Parks honor founding service area leaders Don Antczak and Paul Bywater. Mill Hollow Park creatively repurposed a portion of the former Monroc-Cottonwood gravel pit. Crestwood Park, the largest park in the city, evolved from a private club.

Mountview Park sits on the area that was formerly occupied by Mountview Elementary. These cherished public spaces reflect our city's journey and ongoing dedication to fostering vibrant community life and well-being. ■

SUSTAINABILITY

Efficient Summer Watering Tips

Ian Harris, Planner III/Sustainability Analyst

Smart Summer Watering

As temperatures rise in Northern Utah, it's important to be water-wise to keep landscapes healthy while conserving our precious water resources. With most of Utah's water use occurring in our landscaping, especially during the summer, efficient watering can make a big difference.

Water Early and Infrequently: The best time to water is early in the morning, typically between 6–10 a.m., when temperatures are cooler and winds are calmer. This reduces evaporation and allows plants to absorb more water. Avoid watering during the middle of the day or late at night (which can encourage fungus growth).

Follow the Weekly Guide: The Utah Division of Water Resources provides a weekly watering guide at conservewater.utah.gov, based on current weather and soil conditions. In general, most lawns only need watering

2–3 times per week, even in summer. A quick and easy test: If your grass springs back after being stepped on, it doesn't need water yet.

Go for Deep, Infrequent Watering: Watering deeply but less often encourages deep root growth, making lawns and plants more drought-tolerant. Adjust your sprinklers to run long enough to soak the soil to a depth of 4–6 inches.

Check Your Sprinklers: Regularly inspect your irrigation system for broken or misaligned heads and avoid watering sidewalks or driveways. A well-maintained system saves water and money.

By watering efficiently, we can maintain healthy and beautiful landscapes, reduce our water bills, and help ensure there's enough water for everyone—now and in the future. ■

Volunteers in Parks to keep parks clean!

Every park in Cottonwood Heights has a team of volunteers guided by a volunteer Captain. Be “eyes on” in your favorite park. As you walk, play, and enjoy our parks let the park captain know about: broken sprinkler heads, water running continuously, vandalism, graffiti and overall cleanliness. Cleanup efforts are always appreciated—this can include weeding, raking leaves and pine needles, or picking up trash. Captains are in communication with the Parks and Rec Department.
