More than Mere Numbers: The City Budget is a Year-Long Process

By Mayor Mike Peterson

I recently read an article addressing budgeting and local government. It stated, "Money puts the fun in governing. If your city has money you can do things. You can make people happy and, when people are happy you feel good about your office..." I'm not sure if this is true, but as a City Council we take the budget process very seriously and we hope in the end our constituents are pleased with our efforts and the outcome.

A city budget is a financial plan for a 12-month period and includes the estimated and contractual expenditures for given purposes and the proposed means or revenues of paying for those expenditures.

There never seems to be enough money to do all that is desired or proposed for our city. In tackling the city's needs and with a new City Manager and Finance Director, a revised budget process was created this past year for preparing the 2019-2020 annual city budget. This new process was designed after recognizing the importance of establishing a means to more directly involve the City Council in developing the city budget in collaboration with staff. It also identified the fact that the budget development needs to be an ongoing year-round activity. To facilitate this process, a council retreat was held to outline the city's strategic priorities for the coming year. During the retreat, a formal mission statement was developed to guide the implementation of priorities. The agreed upon mission statement states:

"Cottonwood Heights strives to enrich the quality of life for our residents and to build an attractive, inviting, and secure community. We work in partnership with our residents and businesses to foster community pride, preserve and enhance the natural beauty of our environment, facilitate economic development, and plan for the future within the constraints of fiscally and socially responsible government."

The city's departments then began preparing their individual proposed budgets for presentation to the City Manager. Two new committees were created that involved the City Council more directly. The first committee was the Benefits and Compensation Committee. Recognizing that our city employees are our greatest asset, this committee is critical in our attempts to appropriately compensate and retain our talented employees. The committee is made up of two council members, our human resources personnel and our City Manager. This committee reviewed the relevant data and information

June Featured Artist of the Month – Joshua Wood

As an artist, I enjoy capturing the fleeting glances we get of our surroundings. That is why I use acrylic paint. It is a fast medium that forces an artist to be in the moment. I paint on hardwood panels that I make myself. I like how the grain of the wood helps shape each painting.

The subject matter I enjoy most is the world around me. This usually means landscapes, from the mountains near my hometown to the red rock deserts to the south. I also love architecture and how, like the landscape around us, it can help shape us and how we feel. Painting has taught me to pay closer attention to my surroundings, to see how the light plays on everything and to see everyday objects from a fresh perspective.

I have always wanted to paint. It took well into my adult life to really dive in as an artist, but it was a desire that I have felt my entire life. I paint almost every day to make up for lost time and to work at finding new ways to depict the things I see. ■ regarding cost of living, salary benchmarks and related benefits, and then made recommendations to the Budget Committee.

The Budget Committee is represented by two additional council members, the City Manager and the city Finance Director. This committee looked at every facet of the city budget which included all revenue sources and fund balances. They then reviewed, in detail, the proposed costs of operating the various city departments including capital requests. They compared these needs and requests with the city strategic outline of priorities, the responsibility of providing mandatory services such as fire, police, planning, snow removal, etc., along with city-sponsored quality of life type programs. This committee was also charged with identifying opportunities for increased efficiency in operations to add value to cost-keeping efforts already identified through the city department reviews.

This revised budget process began immediately after the current budget was adopted nearly a year ago and continued throughout the current fiscal year in preparing the 2019-20 tentative budget. State law requires this new budget to be posted and presented to the public and City Council on or before the first scheduled council business meeting each May. This tentative budget is a public document as soon as it's presented to the Council at which time council members set a time and place for a public hearing on the budget. If no property tax increase is proposed, this hearing is required to be held prior to June 22 of each year.

With our tentative budget being adopted on May 7, and the fact it does not include a proposed property tax increase, a public hearing and formal adoption of the 2019-2020 budget is scheduled for June 18 at 7 p.m. at City Hall. Prior to the public hearing, residents can view the proposed budget by going to the city's website at www.ch.utah.gov, or obtaining a personal copy by contacting the city's Recorder or Finance Director at 801-944-7000.

This revised budget process has enhanced the collaboration and coordination of our efforts to be fiscally responsible as the city's mission statement indicates. It also allows time for the Council to be more reflective in the process to allocate funding for services and needed capital improvements in our great city. ■

Arbor Day Tree planting at Mountview Park

Mountview Park was enhanced with 30 new trees on Arbor Day. With more than 100 people participating, including Cottonwood Heights residents, and others. Together, they braved the rain to partner with city employees, IvoryGreen, KSL, SelectHealth and Tree Utah to prepare the site and locations of the trees. The trees were gifted to the city through the Ivory Homes Tree grant program whose goal is to gift 20,000 trees to communities through the state. Mountview Park was selected as one of the new locations and the trees were strategically located in a manner which will provide additional shade to the splash pad, soccer field and walking path while enhancing the already significant beauty of the park. A big thank you to all who came out and helped. ■

Find a 'Universe of Stories' at Whitmore Library this Summer

June is the start of the library's Summer Reading Program, and this year's theme is "A Universe of Stories." Readers can sign up anytime in June or July and receive a $5 fee waiver. Everyone who finishes the program receives a free book and the opportunity to win great prizes. Other programs include:

Mondays in June, 10:15 a.m. Keep your kids moving this summer with Zumba Kids! Play games with movement and dancing.

Tuesdays in June, 2 p.m. Celebrate space with Space Crafts, a weekly craft program for families. Make galaxy slime, perler-bead planets, straw rockets and bedroom constellations.

Tuesday, June 11 at 10:15 am. Explore the fascinating lives of reptiles and amphibians with Revealing Reptiles. Get up close and personal with our favorite cold-blooded friends.

Wednesday, June 19 at 7 p.m. Adults can hear the experiences of a transgendered marriage with Marriage in Transition. A Q&A session will follow the presentation.

For more program details, drop by the library and pick up a calendar, or visit thecountylibrary.org.

Free bags, sand and use of loading tubes will be available at the Cottonwood Heights Public Works yard (3000 East and 6600 South) every Wednesday in June from 4 to 7 p.m. ■

A Must: Register Your Phone Numbers with 911 Emergency Systems

By CHPD Chief Robby Russo

In our city, there are two types of phone numbers that have a direct impact on public safety. While it could be assumed that those numbers are 911 and 801-840-4000, which we use to call for police and fire help, they are not the ones I'm referring to. The two types of phone numbers I want to focus on are landline numbers that are hardwired into our residences via CenturyLink and those that are accessed through a cellular network or via an Internet connection.

Currently, there are 9,311 total Cottonwood Heights phones registered with the 911 system. Of those, 8,977 are CenturyLink landlines and 334 are cellular or Internet phones. At present, the 911 system only automatically recognizes CenturyLink landline phones. The system does not recognize cellular or Internet phones unless the owner has registered them with the 911

It is important to understand that hardwired numbers (landlines) are registered to the address where the service is delivered. The other two are registered to the address where the bill is sent. Understanding the difference can have a direct impact on public safety. Occasionally, the police or fire dispatch center will send out information to phones registered in a specific geographical area. These calls contain specific information on emergent situations and provide instructions to help keep our citizens safe.

Recently, we had a situation in our city where a person was held against their will and shots were fired. Officers responded to the call and set up a perimeter to catch the perpetrator. We felt it was important to alert

In 1853, Jehu (John) Cox gave 10 acres of his farming land for a fort site, around which a wall was built that was 12 feet high and 6 feet thick at the bottom, tapering off to 1 foot thick at the top. This was built of cobblerock, clay and adobe. Watch holes were made a few yards apart around the wall, and bastions or lookout towers were built on two corners. The northeast corner, however, which ran along the top of a steep hill, with the creek at the bottom, evidently furnished enough protection, for about 30 feet of the wall on the brow of the hill. One bastion was on the southeast corner and the other on the northwest corner. There were two streets, running east and west with gates at each end, which were kept locked. One alley ran through the fort north and south, with a gate at either end, which were also locked. About 22 families lived in the fort of many nationalities. There were a few families who did not move to the fort. Among them were: Richard Morgan, Charles Nowlan, Charles Williams, William P. Smith, Rufus F. Forbush, Alonzo Knight, William McGuire, and Foster Greenwood.

The fort was built to protect the settlers from conflicts with natives in the area. A few years after the "Indian difficulties were over, the fort walls were gradually torn down..." (Source: Union First Ward History, 1849-1978)

According to Wikipedia, "The fort was near the modern intersection of North Union and 1000 East Street. The most visible remnants of this era are the old preserved Jehu Cox house (moved from its original location and now used as a shop), about a block north of North Union Avenue in an area that is now largely a parking lot, and a historic marker at the side of the fort." ■

Curbside Green Waste Collection | Cost of a Green Waste Can

Each residence within the Wasatch Front Waste & Recycling District has the opportunity to obtain a green waste can. The green waste collection program is a subscription program. Collections are provided weekly between mid-March and mid-December. This program starts every year on the third Monday in March and ends the second Friday in December.

- A green waste can is less expensive than an additional garbage can. Annual fees for a green waste can equal $114 vs. annual fees for an additional waste can of $204,
 - Green waste is less expensive to process, keeping costs low,
 - Green waste cans reduce the amount of waste sent to the landfill as garbage,
 - Green waste is processed into usable organic compost.
 - Green waste cans reduce greenhouse emissions caused by decomposing organic landfill waste,
- To submit an online request for a green can, visit:
<https://wasatchfrontwaste.org/green-waste/green-waste-can-rental> ■

Fees for a green waste can include a one-time, $60 start-up fee and an annual fee of $114 for the nine months of collection. Those interested in second green cans still need to pay the $60 start-up fee, but all additional green cans are $36 per can, per year. This program is self-sustained through subscription fees and not subsidized with any other fees or tax dollars. There is no obligation to participate since this is an optional service for those who want it and are willing to pay for the services.

- Collection is the same day as your regular refuse and recycling day,
- Customers will receive a special green waste can with vents to release moisture,
- The $60 start-up fee allows Wasatch Front Waste to purchase and deliver the cans,

Brighton Ranks Among Utah's Top 20 High Schools

The Brighton Bengals have clawed their way to a top-20 finish in U.S. News and World Report's 2019 ranking of Utah high schools. Brighton claimed the No. 12 spot in the rankings, which are based on how a school's students perform on year-end assessments in math and reading, its graduation rate and preparation for college. The school was applauded for its high participation rate in Advanced Placement courses and exams. Related news: Brighton High's 2019 Graduation Ceremony is scheduled for Wednesday, June 5 at 2 p.m. at the Maverik Center in West Valley City. ■

Canyons' High School Students Can Now Order their Transcripts Online

Canyons School District is now partnering with Parchment, an online system for ordering high school transcripts. Starting this spring, Brighton high school students can order electronic copies of their official transcripts with a push of the button. They can also use the system to electronically send their transcripts to the college or university of their choosing and track the request to ensure the document arrives at its destination. For now, there is no limit to the number of transcript requests students are allowed. The service is free-of-charge for currently-enrolled students and available to graduates for a small fee. ■

Top Teachers Honored for Raising the Educational Bar

They slip notes of encouragement into backpacks. They call parents to celebrate student success. They engage students and parents in their classrooms. They mentor colleagues. Honored on April 23 at Canyons District's 2019 Teacher of the Year ceremony, were the following Cottonwood Heights-area teachers who have helped children learn, thrive and grow:

Bella Vista Elementary - Laura Rasmussen
 Butler Elementary - Julien Naudot
 Canyon View Elementary - Ina Thompson
 Oakdale Elementary - Allison Fortie

Ridgecrest Elementary - Sara Hawker
 Butler Middle School - Susan Kirkland
 Albion Middle School - Emalee Brown
 Brighton High School - Aaron Hadfield

Bright-Sun Foot Zoning | 801-618-6097

Healing has been a large part of Tammi Sumsion's life. For 19 years, she worked in the medical field as a Respiratory Therapist in a hospital and with home care. In 2009, her oldest son was diagnosed with autism. His diagnosis led her to the world of foot zoning, which is a holistic health option utilizing the feet's natural signal system to establish balance to the body, increase life energy and renew cells. In 2017, she became a Certified Foot Zone Practitioner and later started Bright-Sun Foot Zoning to provide the benefits of health and healing to others. Making home visits, she can be reached at 801-618-6097. ■
